PAULINE GOING TO ENGLAND TO CONTINUE WORK

Agent-General Will Return to London Equipped With
First-hand Information

Hon. F. A. Pauline, B.C. Agent-General in London, held final conference with Government officials to-day before leaving for England to-morrow.

As a result of an extensive tour through the Province and frequent consultations with Government officials, most closely in touch with these matters, he will be well equipped to London well equipped to tell British people about the growth of British Columbia. He has seen at first hand the remarkable progress made here since his last visit, and will be able to talk to the thousands of Britishers who visit B.C. House with first-hand knowledge.

PROGRESS IS GRATIFYING

Mr. Pauline expressed himself as delighted with the Province's recent industrial advances which, he indicated, would impress British investors and potential settlers.

Just as the Agent-General was preparing to return to the scene of his work the Provincial Government was informed of the plans for the launching of the Prince of Wales Airship this week for the Vancouver-Moscow run. Largely as a result of Mr. Pauline's work in encouraging the use of British Columbia materials in British shipbuilding, Douglas fir from this Coast was extensively used in the new Canadian Pacific Railway's crack

Efforts Made to Rescue Crew of N-3 From Small Island;
One Seriously Hurt

Tokio, Oct. 24.—The crew of the burned Japanese dirigible airship N-3, sister ship of the Norge, in which Roald Amundsen and his party flew over the North Pole, were stranded to-day on a small island off the Izu Peninsula. Because of the high seas prevailing it was expected their rescue would be difficult. One of them was seriously injured.

The N-3 had been forced to land on the island, by the bad weather and a lack of fuel. As soon as the crew left it, a gale swept it seaward. It exploded in midair and burst into flames.

PORTLAND CANAL
PEACE RIVER LINE
URGED BY MANN

Vancouver, Oct. 24.—The shortest and plainest route to the interior of the country is from Portland Canal directly into the heart of the Federal Government block and it should be built by one of the big transportation companies.

This is the opinion expressed by Sir Donald Mann, one of the builders of the Canadian Northern and other Canadian roads who is spending a few days in Vancouver.

PLANE TO HOP OFF AGAIN AFTER THIRD FALSE START ON FLIGHT

Above is a picture of the Sikorski amphibian monoplane "Dawn," in which Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson, Pilot Wilmer Stultz and Navigator Brice Goldsborough, plan another attempt, their fourth, to make a non-stop flight from Old Orchard, Maine, to Copenhagen, Denmark. The picture plainly shows the two motors. Failure of the left one caused the fliers to return to Old Orchard yesterday after they had flown past Nova Scotia.

Inset is a picture of Mrs. Grayson, who hopes to be the first woman to fly across the Atlantic.

After False Start

Big horn mountain sheep, monarchs of the highest Rockies, will roar the wilds of Vancouver Island for the first time as a result of plane announced to-day by M. B. Jackson, K.C., chairman of the Game Conservation Board. A caravan of fifty sheep, the gift of the Federal Government national park authorities, will arrive here from Banff during the next few days and will be released in Strathcona Park. Their first home will be Mount Albert Edward, where natural conditions are thought to be ideal for them, and where they will be rigorously protected from hunters.

Another GLEN GARRY BOY

Mr. Peacock is another in the long list of outstanding men born in Glen Garry, Ontario. He went to Queen's University, Kingston, and then for seven years was English master and senior house master at Upper Canada College. He quit teaching to enter the business with the Dominion Securities Corporation. His advance there was rapid and by 1918 he was representing that organization in London and forming contacts which later led him into power and traction undertakings in Spain, Mexico and Brazil. In 1921 he was made a director of the Bank of England. Now he is manager for Barings Company.

He will spend a couple of days in Victoria and then go into southeastern British Columbia to see some of the mining development there. Last time he saw Tull, it was "a pretty small affair," he said, but now there are great smelters.

FLIGHT DESCRIBED

Although he had but "one and a half engines" functioning, Pilot Wilmer Stultz made a perfect landing on the beach here shortly after 4 p.m.

Navigator Brice Goldsborough told the story of the experiences which drove the aircraft back after the most auspicious of its three starts.

"We had made better than ninety miles an hour," he said, "from the take-off at 6:10 to a point off Cape Sable at about 10:30 a.m. Suddenly, from a cause we did not know, one motor went bad and we could not run it at more than half speed.

GASOLINE DUMPED

"We sent out an SOS query and we were quickly in touch with a ship. I

"We dumped the gasoline in one of the tanks and with out lightened ship decided we could proceed to land under our own power. We found the lightened ship rode fairly well, so we kept on."

BRITISH PREFER BRAZILIAN BONDS

"For several reasons your rate of return in Canada on the well-established class of investment is lower than the British investor can afford to take," Mr. Peacock said. "One reason is that you have more money to buy your own bonds, and another is that New York lists the investment in Canada and comparatively close at home. The British investors can get British Government bonds to yield 4.75 per cent. He is not disposed to buy British Columbia bonds at a lower yield.

"Take this issue of Brazilian bonds. They yield 7 per cent. We would not buy them if, for instance, we could not get British Columbia bonds at 5 per cent. But we feel that we must buy for a higher yield and mix it with other securities to get that better return."

Recently our company bought an issue of Kingdom of Belgium bonds to yield 7.5 per cent. Other European countries are issuing bonds which we consider fairly secure.

MORE MINING INVESTMENTS COMING

"As for more British capital entering speculative channels in Canada on a larger scale, I happen to know that four of the largest mining companies of Britain are carrying on extensive research work in the Canadian field. They are not doing any very noticeable work, though, up to date, usually contenting at the outset."

"The 'Alders' field for investment in B.C. is timber. It had a very bad name in England for a while, some of the promotions there being such as to leave an unfavorable impression of timber as a speculation. About four years ago I recommended a group of friends in London to buy some timber land in the province of British Columbia, and they have since sold it for $250,000 on my advice."

"Since then they have sold enough timber from their holdings practically to clear their investment and they are retaining the balances for a probable rise over a period of years. That fortunate investment has prompted several in the same group to invest another $500,000."

"I think it is safe to say that there is an increasing amount of capital coming into speculative investments in Canada and rather less into the bad stuff that was bought before the war."

"One sometimes hears British investors should put more of their money into the securities of the British Dominion like Canada, the suggestion being that they are not doing enough along this line. If, however, the full details of all their investment of this sort were known, it would surprise many of those critics. The Britisher is naturally an individual who does not seek publicity in his business dealings, with the result that large sums of money are often placed in the Dominion that are never heard of."

IMMIGRATION VITAL TO CANADA

In regard to immigration to Canada, Mr. Peacock said he had very strong views, but he would not say anything on that matter till he had fully considered the situation in this country.

A successful immigration movement was, he believed, the foundation stone of Canada's future greatness.

established classes of securities is too low for the British investor, who could not, for instance, take a $4.50 basis with which to get a $4.75 in British Government securities.

"People generally in Britain are favorable to investing in the Dominions and would certainly like to do business in Canada, but with higher returns available elsewhere they naturally go where they get the biggest yield on their money."

Mr. Peacock stated that the Governors of the Bank of England and the United States Federal Reserve Bank are close friends, and that friendship had led to an intimacy in business dealings of a co-operative character that had proved one of the big factors in the stabilization of international finance since the war days.

"It was in accord with the claim that stability of international finance was the greatest safeguard for peace, and that ground it seemed a wise policy for the great banking institutions to get closer in the handling of international financial affairs," he continued.

U.S. INVESTMENT BENEFICIAL

"The amount of United States capital being invested in Canada is nothing that should cause much alarm to anyone. It is natural that such a wealthy country as the United States, which had recently developed a financial stability that it regards as securities outside its own domain, should prefer the financial offerings of its immediate and friendly neighbor in preference to those of some far distant and less settled country, even though the returns on the investment might be less."

As to agitation that developed recently over the purchase by Americans of Canadian bank stocks, Mr. Peacock said he had found no responsible financiers in Canada in the least concerned about the movement. He had made inquiry about that situation when in Montreal, and the general opinion was that the American public regarded the Canadian bank stocks as a splendid investment, but that any idea of securing control of banks operating in the Dominion was mere chimeras.

Two Thugs In Seattle Hold Up City Car Barn

Seattle, Oct. 24.—Three hundred dollars in cash and 24,000 street car tokens were obtained by bandits in a daylight holdup at a car barn here today. One of the two bandits wore a carman's cap.

Binding W. E. Wild, station master, the men scooped up the money and three bags of metal tickets and escaped. Wild attempted to step on the burglar alarm, but found the gong tapper had been removed.

Four insurance company's safes in Seattle were opened during the weekend and police interrupted an attempt to crack the safe in a moving picture house.

The robbers obtained $85 of the Western States Life Insurance Company, $100 from the Aetna Insurance Company, $378.28 from the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company and $125 from the Provincial Mutual Insurance Company.

JURY IN SEATTLE FREES TWENTY-TWO AFTER CONSPIRACY HEARING

He of Judge Jeremiah Neterer, who had not entirely recovered from an accident, ordered four more of the defendants to stand trial by direct jury verdict, leaving thirteen defendants in the case. These four were co-guardians at the time of the reputed conspiracy.

A. M. HUBBARD TESTIFIED

The case against the defendants was built around the story of Alfred M. Hubbard, who became a federal undercover agent after he had been indicted with his co-defendants in the first Olmsted case. Hubbard testified against each of the forty defendants who stood trial, accusing officers of protecting rum runners and accepting graft, and asserting that more than $1,000,000 worth of liquor had been brought into the ring in a year's time.

Hubbard, it was claimed, was supported by the story of Frank L. White, Chicago prohibition agent, and W. H. Kinard, a Tacoma enforcement officer.

Four defendants, who were granted separate trials, also gave corroborative evidence.

The defence attorneys, although introducing some testimony to attempt to prove good reputations for their clients, directed their principal attacks against the integrity of the prosecution witnesses. Led by John P. Dore, the defence attorneys accused Hubbard of being the real head of the liquor conspiracy and bringing innocent laborers and others in the ring to provide a shield for his own operations.

The defence contention was somewhat aided by the testimony of Russell C. Jackson, a federal prohibition agent and Government witness, who swore he had heard Hubbard say Olmsted: "Well, Roy, they got us this time." After Jackson and two other officers had captured Olmsted and Hubbard while unloading a cargo of liquor, United States Attorney Thomas P. Reilly closed with the witness over this statement and insisted Jackson had not made the same report to him before the trial.

The jury reached its verdict at 7:15 p.m. yesterday. The case had been given to the jury Saturday night.

BIG HORN SHEEP FOR ISLAND TO COMPLETE GAME FAMILY

hunters because the game areas of the Island are so readily accessible."

The protection of Big Horn to the Island will be the latest step in the most important experiment undertaken by the game board. First, marmots were brought here and have flourished until they promise to be come important economically as fur producers. Then mountain goat were released in the Shaw Creek Game Reserve in the Crowsnest. As they were not sighted for years, it was thought that they had found this ultimate unsuitable or had found a prey to cougars. Recently, however, game warden sighted a band of substantial numbers, showing that the goats had come to stay.

Encouraged by the success of the goat experiment, Mr. Jackson asked the Federal Government to co-operate with the Game Board in the introduction of Big Horn here. The Federal authorities agreed to send a number of the animals from Banff National Park, where they are so tame that tourists are able to take pictures of them at a distance of a few feet.

Introduction of sheep into Strathcona Park will add another charm to the Island reserve. Sheep there will enhance the mountain character of the park in which rise many snow-capped peaks. Here the Big Horn are expected to live and multiply providing a new attraction for visitors. If they become as tame as they are at Banff, the animals will be seen frequently by people exploring the Strathcona wilds, around Buttle Lake.

THE P.G.E. AND THE PEACE

AS LONG AS THE PACIFIC GREAT Eastern Railway answers to the description of a line that begins nowhere and ends nowhere it is certain that it will not pay any dividends on the investment. It is true that efficient management and more business have improved the financial returns from the road very considerably during the last year or so. In fact it has nearly reached the point where it will begin to pay operating expenses—quite a different situation from that which confronted the taxpayers five years ago. But until it can reach out for the business of the Peace River district and bring the products of that area to the Pacific Coast for distribution to the markets of the world, it will remain a liability.

We do not agree with the view of The Vancouver Province that matters should be left as they stand, with a suggestion that the business of the Peace River area is a matter by itself and therefore unrelated to the future of the P.G.E. The future and the fortunes of the provincially-owned road are inseparably bound up with the production of the Peace River area. It certainly would be poor business for British Columbia to sponsor any proposal that would divert that production away from this coast. This is not to say that British Columbia should undertake to extend the line entirely at its own expense, but every effort should be made to secure direct railroad contact by this means between the Coast and the Peace River country.

COL. ROOSEVELT AND GOVERNOR SMITH

WHEN COLONEL THEODORE ROOSEVELT made his sensational declaration that the first duty of the Republican Party of the United States is to dispel "the shadow of Tammany Hall," which "lies abhain the White House" he dealt one of the first spectacular blows in a campaign designed to spike Governor Al. Smith's guns in his bid for the Democratic nomination for the presidency. In Republican circles it has been hailed as a master stroke, the Party preening itself upon its righteousness, its invulnerability to the Tammany taint.

Although Colonel Roosevelt said "a man must be judged by the company he keeps," he made it clear that neither he nor the Republican Party questions "the personal integrity of Governor Smith." At the same time he declares that the Democratic aspirant for presidential honors "is sponsored and backed by Tammany Hall" which, in his opinion, "is next to being corrupt yourself." The New York Times reminds the public that to identify Governor Smith with Tammany and Tammany with all that is corrupt and vicious has long been indicated as a part of the Republican strategy for 1928; but "Colonel Roosevelt has simply blurted it out in advance." The New York Republicans, it says, may dislike abuse of Smith, "but they are glad to have it exported in large quantities from the State." Consequently the Colonel's speech is to be distributed all over the country in pamphlet form.

One newspaper in its reference to Colonel Roosevelt finds "the son of his father" showing "most of all that native ability for opening his mouth and putting his foot in it which is a part of the parental heritage." The New York World has come to the conclusion that "there is a group of national Republicans, of whom the Colonel is one, who are out to defeat Governor Smith for the nomination." It says they are afraid to meet him in an electoral campaign, and so they hope and pray that Democratic prejudices in the South and West will be strong enough to defeat Smith in the Democratic Convention and so save the Republicans the trouble of having to meet him in the campaign. This, The World asserts, is the idea behind the Colonel's attack, "the strategy of his little crowd."

Some of the Democratic newspapers, of course, are treating the Colonel's speech a little more seriously than others, reminding their readers that his phrase, "a man must be judged by the company he keeps," might even be applied to himself. The Raleigh News and Observer has this to say: "He was appointed to office by Harding, whose record is one that saddens his most forgiving friend. He was closely connected officially with Fall and Denby and Daugherty, faithless Cabinet officials; with Forbes, now in the penitentiary for corruption in the Veterans' Bureau; and other officials who brought disgrace to the Harding Administration. While Sinclair was grabbing the Naval oil reserve, Colonel Roosevelt was Assistant Secretary of the Navy and his brother was employed by Sinclair. He did not profit by the lease, and Mr. Denby took all the blame, but if he had possessed the stuff of his father, he would have cried out against the lease, and prevented the wrong, or resigned from the crooked Administration." Another journal says that Colonel Roosevelt ought to be something of an authority on corruption; "he had exceptional opportunity to watch super-corruptionists perform."

With Governor Smith definitely in the field as Democratic candidate, of course, his supposed association with "Tammany and Tammany with all that is corrupt and vicious" would have to be worked pretty hard by his opponents, who would be less likely to use the religious argument against him.

CANADA SHOULD HAVE NO SLUMS

VANCOUVER KIWANIS CLUB HAS been told by the Rev. Richmond Craig that there are slums in that city which are a "festering sore" breeding bolshevism, discontent, and national disintegration.

The reverend gentleman suggests that Vancouver might well adopt as a slogan for itself: "A City Without Slums." We do not think that bolshevism, discontent, or national disintegration are making any headway either in Vancouver or in any other city in Canada. But we agree with Mr. Craig when he advocates the removal of slums by town-planning or any other agency.

There ought not to be any slums in Canada. Slums there are in the Old World; but even in London, where population congestion is about as pronounced as anywhere on the globe, slums are gradually disappearing because modernized public opinion will not tolerate squalor.

With all the room we have in Canada, with all the errors of the Old World to guide us towards better conditions, the last thing of which the Canadian people should be accused is anything that tolerates a standard of living which is bad for either body or mind.

KICKING ABOUT THE TARIFF

THE SYDNEY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE is up in arms about the new Australian tariff and its application to British goods. It has informed the Australian section of the London Chamber of Commerce that it intends to bring the matter to the attention of Premier Bruce, "hoping it will induce him and his party to view this question in the same light as you do."

In its cable to London the Sydney organization declares the Australian people "are beginning to see that high duties are largely responsible for the excessive cost of living, and also for the abnormally high cost of locally-manufactured goods." It says the tariff is becoming a live question in the Commonwealth, and strenuous efforts are being made to induce the Federal Parliament to reduce it, "especially on articles used by primary producers."

High protectionists have told us many times during election campaigns that higher duties on the imported article do not necessarily mean that the selling price of the locally-manufactured commodity will be advanced. The consuming public, of course, knows better. The whole principle of protection as far as the manufacturer is concerned is the authority which it gives him to charge more for the goods he produces than are in foreign competition.

What is apparent to the people of Australia also seemed apparent to many of the Conservatives who attended the recent party convention in Winnipeg. Its tariff resolution, while "adhering to Conservative principles," contained nothing of the "brick for brick" with the United States idea, a proposal favored by the party a year or so ago. The people of Canada are opposed to any policy which benefits the few at the expense of the majority, and high protectionists know it.

ITALY AND DEMOCRACY
From The Cincinnati Times-Star

The successor of Mussolini probably will be another Duce. The only real hope for a more permanent form of government is long life for Mussolini and that political training of the Italian people so that some form of democracy may be restored. Mussolini should educate his Italian people to rule themselves rather than educate Fascist leaders to rule the Italian people.

MOOSE HOLD BIG INITIATION MEET

Prize-winning Degree Team
Officiates at Interesting Ceremony

The regular meeting of Victoria Lodge 1390, Loyal Order of Moose, was held at the Victoria Room, the Esso Hall. General candidates were initiated and created Loyal Moose, the work being put on by the prize-winning degree team of the lodge.

An election for the office of prelate took place and Bro. S. Honey-church was raised from inner guard to the higher rank of prelate, unanimously.

After the meeting a smoker was staged under the auspices of the social committee, and the following members and friends delighted the gathering with various items: Bro. Ockwell, piano solo; Bro. Harris, clog dance;
Mr. Harkness, slight of hand, and Mr.
Inglethorpe, songs and elocution. The smoker was interspersed with community singing, and closed with
"Auld Lang Syne."

On Friday evening, October 28, the order throughout the world will celebrate "Moosehead Day," and the local branch will commemorate by way of a social and dance.

It is the birthday of the foundation of Mooseheart, the city of childhood and the home of the children of departed Moore, where some 1,500 little there are 40 doses in ing meeting on Thursday at the home of the president, Mrs. Derringberg, Saanichton.

The military five hundred held on Wednesday night under the auspices of the West Saanichton W.I. was well attended, eleven tables of players being engaged in play. After some very keen contests the first prizes were won by Mrs. G. C. Tait, Mrs. G. C. Tait, Mrs. Lacoste, J. Osborne and S. Fox, with twenty-five discs, while second honors went to Miss Margaret Overton, Mrs.

In honor of Miss Madeline Sluggett,

she is to attend the University, the Provincial Government offices, a jolly surprise party was held on Monday evening at the home of her aunt, Mrs. J. W.
Sluggett. Games and contests passed a very pleasant evening. A dainty buffet supper was served by the hostess. Miss Ida Heyer, on behalf of the senior department of the Baptist Sunday school, presented Miss Sluggett with a gift in appreciation of her work in the Sunday school, to which she replied in a very pleasing manner.
The enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang
Syne" and "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow." Those present were Misses Madeline Sluggett, Roberta Sluggett, Myrtle
Sluggett, Ida Heyer, Shirley Sluggett,

The Missionary Gleaners Band held their annual harvest thanksgiving service on Wednesday. About seventy-five invited guests were drawn to a bountiful supper. Mr. Geo. Sluggett was a capable chairman for the programme which followed. Mrs. Tapscott gave a very interesting talk on the work carried on by the Sunday school.
H. E. Tanner also gave a short talk.
An amusing recitation, "Bailing Wire," was given by Kenneth Thomson. Mrs.
Tapscott rendered two solos in her usual manner, and Miss Ida Heyer and Miss Madeline Sluggett sang a duet entitled "Little Bird." Two organ solos by Miss Alma Heyer and Miss Madeline Sluggett were also enjoyed. A collection was taken in aid of missions. After the programme contests were enjoyed and community singing was indulged in by all present.

A big crowd turned out for the opening games of the basketball season at the West Road Hall on Friday night.

The ladies' match was first on the programme, the Harmony team from Victoria, playing the home team, winning out by the very close score of 15 to 14 points.

The players were: Harmony—G. Frizzell, Ida Pouliester, B.
Foubister, A. Wood, E. Matthews and
G. Stelos.

In the intermediate game the Do-Dads were the visiting team, and a very close struggle was won by the West Road, who were also successful in winning the senior game against the Pioneers. The teams were:

Intermediate—D. Gibson,
Frizzell, Robertson, Johnson, Kelly,

C.G.I.T. COUNCIL CHOOSSES OFFICERS

Miss Maquinna Daniels to Lead Victoria Council; Fine Conference

The Metropolitan and First Baptist Churches were the centres of much interest and activity on Saturday afternoon and evening when the Victoria Canadian Girls in Training met for their annual meeting. The conference commenced at 1.30 p.m. in the Metropolitan Sunday schoolroom when 123 girls and leaders received the attractive blue and white conference badge.

Miss Annie Fountain, B.C. girls' work secretary for British Columbia, acted as conference leader, and Miss Dorothy Urquhart, as assistant, and Miss Alice Martin as secretary took charge at all sessions in a very capable manner, showing what the work is doing for the girlhood of to-day.

MISS FOUNTAIN SPOKE

At 2 p.m. in the Sunday schoolroom of the First Baptist Church the conference opened with a lively sing-song led by Miss Fountain and followed by an address of welcome by the president. The conference was presided over by the president assisted by Winifred Urquhart, commenced with the singing of the conference hymn, "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee."

Miss Fountain gave an interesting and helpful talk on "The C.G.I.T. program and code for this year," after which the conference was divided into seven discussion groups, the topics chosen for discussion being "The Four Things a Girl Must Learn to Do," taken from Henry Van Dyke's poem:

"Four things a girl must learn to do
If she would hold her record true
To think without confusion, clearly,
To love her fellow man sincerely;
To act from honest motives purely;
To trust in God and Heaven sincerely."

The discussion leaders for this period were: Mrs. T. Hammond, Mrs. G. Guy, Mrs. W. A. Guy, Mrs. G. Heberlein, Mrs. Perry, Miss Couriers and Miss W. Urquhart. The findings of each group were then read.

PRESIDENT PAGEANT

The pageant entitled "The Gateway of the West" was very cleverly acted by the following girls: Mary Clark, Amy King, Edith Green, Olive Baker, Nora Williams, Margaret Woodward, Rosy Parritt, Helen Ballies and Dorothy Townsend, under the capable direction of Miss Beall. The curtain after the noon session and the girls adjourned to the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium for a pleasant hour of recreation under the direction of Miss Couriers, physical instructor at the Normal School and also the champion lady ski-jumper of the world.

BANQUET PROGRAMME

At 6 o'clock about 160 sat down to a splendid banquet arranged by the ladies of the different churches and served by the "home country" Canadian Girls in Training who are attending the Normal School. Speeches were given by Betty Davies on "The Most Interesting Piece of Service My Group Has Done," Barbara Daniels on "The Most Interesting Council Meeting I Have Attended," and Dorothy MacCrimmon on "How We Take Up Mission Study." Kitte Daniels, one of the senior girls, gave a talk on the "Aims and Object of the Girls' Council."

OFFICERS CHOSEN

The election of council officers for this year was then held, the following girls being elected to office: President Maquinna Daniels; vice-president, Betty Davies; secretary-treasurer, Olive Baker; pianist, Winnie Green; recorder, Dorothy Urquhart; Hazel Olsen, Beth Birkeland.

A short but inspiring talk was given by Miss Fountain and George Guy rendered two solos which were greatly appreciated.

Thanks were tendered by the girls who had in any way helped to make their conference such a great success, and especially to Mrs. Hammond, president of Victoria girls' work board, Miss Bell, sponsor of the girls' council, and Dorothy Urquhart, council president, who have given much of their time in the organization of the programme.

The singing of "Follow the Gleam" brought to a close one of the most successful C.G.I.T. conferences ever held in Victoria.

Kumutka Club—The Kumutka Club will its supper meeting this evening at 6 o'clock at the new Y.W.C.A. building at the corner of Courtney and Blanchard Streets. After supper a brief business session will be held in the club room. All members are urged to make a special effort to attend.

Pythian Sisters' Bazaar—Island Pythian Sisters will hold their weekly bazaar this evening at 6 o'clock at the new Y.W.C.A. building at the corner of Courtney and Blanchard Streets. After supper a brief business session will be held in the club room. All members are urged to make a special effort to attend.

Lantern Lecture at St. Paul's—At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church, Victoria, on Saturday, November 8, at 10 a.m. Many attractive wares suitable for Christmas gifts will include plain sewing, novelties, home cooking, a tub, and afternoon tea will be served.

JOHN BARRYMORE, SCREEN'S GREATEST LOVER, IN WARNER FILM AT DOMINION THEATRE

Gigantic Settings, Pictorial Beauty and Wonderful Costumes Feature "When a Man Loves"; Gay Paris During Reign of Louis XV Provides Perfect Background; Story of Great Power and Heart Appeal

Even without its absorbing story, it captivates the mind and gives the spectator the illusion of utter reality.

"When a Man Loves" has as its setting the gay and dissolute Paris of Louis XV, where the chases were the chief occupations of the few and dire poverty the lot of the many. Never has Barrymore essayed a story of more power and heart appeal than this one, and Dolores Costello, the adorable heroine of "The Sea Beast," has arisen to even greater dramatic heights. The rest of the cast reads like the blue book of film stars, including as it does Sam De Grasse, Holmes Herbert, Warner Oland, Marcelle Corday, Charles Clary, Templer Saxe, Eugene Bresser, Bertram Grasby, Noble Johnson, Stuart Holmes, Tom Santschi, Tom Wilson and many others. Alan Crosland directed. "When

Another Big Bill At Coliseum Is Offered This Week

Another big surprise is in store for the patrons of the Coliseum theatre, in a triple bill that can not be excelled anywhere. Among the high lights of the vaudeville bill is Madge Cowan, pupil of Nicholas Rusanoff, who will charm the audience with her graceful dancing. Next is a sketch, entitled

"Moonlight and You." This is a sketch with a musical theme. Melody composed by E. Spencer, libretto written and sketch directed by Walter Earle. In this are Eileen Allwood, George Durham, Beverly Fife and Peggy Charles. Also on the bill is Leighton Winters, the boy soprano, who is sure to be one of the high lights of this remarkable vaudeville programme.

The latest of cinema thrillers, "Open All Night," is the name of this new Paramount production which Paul Bern produced from the screen play by Willis Goldbeck. Incidentally, this is Mr. Bern's debut in the directorial field which prompts us to say that if it's a sample of what he can do, more power to him!

Adapted from the story of the play which made Cyril Maude's greatest success, "The Flag Lieutenant," which is one of the most gigantic productions to be released in Canada, is offered on the screen.

Women's Benefit Association, No. 1.—Victoria Review will hold its regular meeting in the Knights of Columbus Hall on 901 Government Street at 8 o'clock Tuesday. Visiting members and members are cordially invited.

Wonderful Cure For Speed Maniac Given In Columbia Picture

Priscilla Dean Seen in "The Speeding Venus" at Local House This Week

The incurable speed maniac should be made to serve a term standing on a platform in front of a car that is doing seventy miles per hour. His "cure" would be swift and certain, according to Robert Thorsby, who directed Priscilla Dean in her new Metropolitan picture, "The Speeding Venus," which will be the big feature at the Columbia theatre to-day.

Thorsby should know, for he and his cameramen did just that in filming scenes that show Priscilla in a break-neck, cross-country dash, earning her label as the picture. Scenes were taken from platforms four and a half feet from ears following at equal speed and from various points of vantage along the road, to secure a diversity of "angles." The picture is said to be highly thrilling. Robert Fraser and Dale Fuller leading a decidedly strong supporting cast.

"BEGGAR'S OPERA" COMING TO ROYAL

Revised Version With Additional Airs and New Settings to be Offered Here Shortly

"The Beggar's Opera," which will be seen at the Royal Victoria Theatre soon, was written and first produced by John Gay and John Rich at the Lincoln's Inn Field Theatre in London in 1728, where it played for 100 nights, which is said to be a remarkable run in those days. The present tour, commemorating the two hundredth anniversary of "the first and the best" musical play covers twenty-five weeks' bookings on the road followed by New York and Chicago runs.

"The Beggar's Opera" was first performed in New York in the Fall of 1738 by Capt. Macbeth on this occasion was played by Thomas Kean. The first Boston performance of the opera was in 1786, and the part of "Fitch" was played by Joseph Jefferson, the grandfather of Joseph Jefferson of "Rip Van Winkle" fame. The "Polly Peachum" of the original American performance was Mrs. Marshall, whose performance here was much admired by George Washington. The last performances of the opera were given in this country in the Spring of 1923.

It has been said by a well-known critic: "If 'The Beggar's Opera' were not so 'low-brow' it would certainly give one the impression of a 'dreadfully high-brow'." This reference is undoubtedly to the historical data and famous names attached to the fine old masterpiece. Hogarth painted it. Purcell, Dr. Arne, Handel and Dr. Pepusch were drawn on for some of the music. Dean Swift, Pope and Addison made suggestions and contributions to the plot and scenes.

In the revised version Frederic Austin wrote some additional airs and new settings for some of the old music, and Arnold Bennett revised the libretto, halting it might be added well on this side of prudery, yet maintaining the wit and sparkle of the original. The scenery and costumes were designed by the late Claude Lovat-Fraser.

St. John's Silver Tea — St. John's congregation will hold a silver tea at the rectory, 1811 Quadra Street, on Wednesday, October 26, from 3 to 6, in aid of the Theological College furnishings.

STELLAR CAST SEEN IN "CHINESE PARROT" AT CAPITOL ALL THIS WEEK

Marian Nixon, Edmund Burns and Hobart Bosworth Head List of Well-known Players; Scenes Are Laid on Sunny Shores of Hawaii and Sun-baked Sands of California; Two Australian Artists Head Vaudeville Bill

"The Chinese Parrot," an absorbing story of love and intrigue that reaches from the sunny shores of Hawaii to the sun-baked sands of Death Valley, California, has been booked as the special attraction to be shown at the Capitol Theatre all this week.

Marian Nixon, Edmund Burns and Hobart Bosworth head the long and well-known list of players in the picture, which was directed by Paul Leni, ace of foreign directors, who was recently brought to this country by Carl Laemmle, President of Universal pictures and is now under long term contract to that organization.

The picture is a screen adaptation of Earl Derr Biggers' story of the same name that created a sensation when published in the Saturday Evening Post a few months ago. In the screen version all of the dramatic, tension and mystery of the story is retained while the wider scope possible in the filming is added.

In addition to the player already mentioned those included in the cast are: Florence Turner, K. Sezn, Fred Esposito, Edgar Kennedy, George Kuwa, Slimm Summerville, Dan Mason, Anna May Wong, Rita Lee and Jack Trent.

Among the many fine vaudeville attractions being offered at the Capitol Theatre this week in addition to the feature photoplay, the management is offering the Australian La Merts, in a distinctly novel innovation which embraces singing, imitations, pianolouges and very clever whistling. These two artists have traveled all over the world with this sketch and have been received extremely well. Victorians will no doubt find them very entertaining, others on this week's program include, Miss Merle North, a dainty, charming mezzo soprano, who will be heard in several song selections, and the Iris Sisters, a clever comedy dance team, will include to Capitol patrons some new and novel dance steps, and also some very smart comedy.

INTEREST IS KEEN IN VIOLIN RECITAL

Large Audience Expected to Hear Talented Canadians
To-morrow Night

A large audience is anticipated to greet Eleanor Agnew and Marjorie Nixon in their joint violin recital at the Centennial to-morrow evening. These two brilliant violinists are from Eastern Canada and are making a short tour of the Pacific Coast prior to many winter engagements in the East. The programme, already announced, is one that should make a direct appeal to all lovers of music and especially to those who play string instruments.

The appearance here of such young performers should particularly impress all music students and young people generally. An added feature of the recital is the inclusion of three organ numbers by Walter Richards, a noted English organist, who has offered his services to the concert.

Interesting Discussion at Meeting of Metropolitan Brotherhood

The Metropolitan Brotherhood staged a very interesting and instructive debate at its last meeting. The project was as follows: "Resolved that it would be in the best interests of the United Church of Canada if more attention (time, money and effort) were given to home missions than is at present given to foreign missions." Those taking the affirmative were Messrs. Michael P. Cook and Westcott. Mr. Mease Hollins, Sonley and McIver argued for the negative.

The judges were Mr. Gibson, supervisor of normal schools for the Province, and Mr. Watson of the Department of Education of British Columbia, who kindly consented to act. They gave their decision in favor of the affirmative. Mr. Gibson stated that, although it had called for careful consideration, it had been a unanimous decision. He gave it as his experience that it was a difficult matter to find really good debatable subjects. He commended the tone and spirit which had characterized the proceedings throughout.

One of thanks to the judges brought a profitable evening to a close. While the judges were considering their decision, an invitation by the chairman to those present to express their views on the matter under discussion was responded to by Rev. Blandford, a returned Chinese missionary; Rev. W. J. Sippell, who congratulated the speakers; Messrs. Hudson and Harper.

Mr. Ellis contributed a bass solo during the evening. The next meeting will be on November 15, and will take the form of an entertainment for prairie friends.

Victoria School of Expression Holds Its First Recital

The first studio recital of the Victoria School of Expression was held in Harmony Hall, Fort Street, Friday evening. The hall was crowded. In response to the requests of busy people who areunable to keep as conversant with the works of the great masters of drama as they would wish, Shakespearean programmes were given. This included Attie's song from "The Tempest," sung very sweetly by older members of the school choir, and "Under the Greenwood Tree," sung by Evelyn Valiant. Duets were sung by Dorothy Bishop and Molie Graham, whose voices are well balanced with excellent voice production.

Items of interest were recitations by Isabel Thompson, Catherine Craig and Ann Haynes, the two latter reciting "Little Billie," composed for the school by Miss A. T. Hiddell, and "Innocence" by John House.

Scenes from Shakespeare were given by Garth Griffiths, Ruth Hayman and Capt. Ord. All these demonstrated their own talent and the surprising ability of their students. The final item was a scene from "Macbeth," given by Mrs. Winifred Ord. They were followed by a humorous character sketch, intellectually interesting because vividly true to life.

In a brief speech the principal emphasized the importance of voice training in speech to all public speakers and also in social life. The work of good speech schools in attaining a high standard of speech was referred to.

Baptist Women's Union.—The Baptist Women's Union of the First Baptist Church will meet tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the church hall. WHEN you turn on the current, the turntable starts to revolve; a mechanical "hand" takes the first record from the group of twelve and places it on the turntable; the tone-arm moves into position; the sound-box is lowered and the music begins. These operations are repeated until the last record is played, then the mechanism stops automatically.

KEATING DISTRICT GOOD FOR GRAPES

Saanich Grower Has Rapidly Increasing High-grade Output

With 250 vines already producing, and preparations under way for doubling his production, the Gold of Keating is demonstrating to Vancouver Island that the climate and soil is well suited to the growing of Island Belle grapes.

Although the vines are young, the greater number of them being less than four years old, they are producing a heavy volume of grapes.

"I am adapting to this climate and I am growing better grapes than they can produce in Eastern Canada," says Mr. Gold.

This Island Belle, originated by Belle Isle growers some years ago, has been grown extensively, and is known in California as a fruit of great delicacy.

Washington grows these grapes, but the field from the vines is nothing like that of the Keating variety.

Where the Washington growers have sixty pounds to the vine, the local produce gets 200 pounds.

Next year Mr. Gold expects to have sufficient grapes to supply the Victoria market.

The Island Belle is a splendid grape for wine making. The wine of Eastern Canada, which is so popular, can be duplicated here and made from a grape of better quality, which Saanich can produce, Mr. Gold asserts.

Keating

Keating, Oct. 24.—The annual Hallowe'en concert and dance will be held in the Temperance Hall on Wednesday evening, October 26, under the auspices of the Junior Institute Club. The concert of songs, recitations, musical numbers, fancy dancing and a play entitled "Aunt Alice's Money." Those taking part in the play are Misses Janet Sherrington, Doris and Margaret Mitchell and J. Nimmo. A Hafer and N. Tanner, while a number of local and Victoria artists will assist with the remainder of the programme. Refreshments will be served, and Ray Kinloch's orchestra will play for the dance.

The Saanichon Athletic Association held a meeting in the Agricultural Hall, Saanichon, when plans were made for the Winter season. The election of officers resulted in the re-election of R. D. ### NERVOUS DYSPEPSIA TORTURED HER FOR 7 YEARS

"I wouldn't take $10,000 as I did before I eat Tanlac," writes Mrs. Gertrude Lunson, 33 Becker St., London, Ont. "I don't believe any woman ever suffered more than did I. I was so tortured that I would go all day without nourishment and suffered no sleep, with chest pains and dizzy spells that I could not sleep. Many days, I was so weak I could not get out of bed. A druggist advised me to take Tanlac, and the next day I could not buy the soap it had done me. I gained 7 pounds; the chest pains disappeared. I eat three hearty meals a day and never have a dizzy spell. My nerves are stronger now than ever, and my children and my house is a pleasure since Tanlac gave me back my strength. I would advise every mother to use Tanlac."

Roots, herbs and bark—these are the ingredients in Tanlac—nature's own medicine for the sick. Get a bottle from your druggist to-day. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

PARTY CHANGES SOON IN SOUTH AFRICA

Speech by Roos May Fore- shadow Realignment of Groups

Johannesburg, S.A., Oct. 24.—(Canadian Press Cable via Reuters)—The recent Johannesburg speech of Hon. T. J. Roos, Minister of Justice of the Union of South Africa, in which he foreshadowed a reorganization of the political parties of the past, has been greeted with quiet enthusiasm by prominent Nationalists, who express themselves as confident in the belief Mr. Roos' gesture, if not actually heralding a union pact between Nationalists and the Afrikaners, at least foresees the formation of a new party out of the strong and moderate elements of the two parties.

Dr. Moll, a prominent and extreme Transvaal Nationalist, on the other hand, regards Mr. Roos as too optimistic and declares that what is wanted is not a union, but a federal arrangement, and that the only way to achieve this is by a new party.

Mr. Roos' speech, however, has talked of "sovereign independence" for the Transvaal, and the Afrikaners, and the Nationalists, at least foresees the formation of a new party out of the strong and moderate elements of the two parties.

New Furness Ship Completes Voyage

Ms. Pacific Reliance, in Command of Capt. D. Buckley, Is Latest Type of Vessel for Freight Service; Five More Coming to Coast on Completion

Having experienced fine weather throughout the greater part of her maiden voyage the new Furness (Pacific) motorship Pacific Reliance docked here yesterday morning from the United Kingdom, a day ahead of schedule. After discharging forty tons of general freight here she proceeded to the Mainland.

The Reliance is under the command of Capt. D. Buckley, formerly member of the Furness vessel London Skipper. Capt. Buckley is proud of his new command and drew particular attention to the fine accommodation of the vessel.

There are staterooms for twelve passengers on the ship. She brought a full list on her first trip, including Lord and Lady Shannon, who are still on the vessel when she arrived here. The remainder of the passengers disembarked at Californian points. Although destined for San Francisco, Lord and Lady Shannon remained aboard the vessel to make the trip to British Columbia, and will leave the ship when she calls at the southern port on her return.

FINE ACCOMMODATION

The accommodation on the Reliance is finely laid out and is decorated with artistic taste. Built-in beds are provided and walnut furniture, attractively finished, gives a pleasing effect to the commodious staterooms.

The spacious dining-room, well lighted and ventilated, bespeaks excellent service. The social room, done in old ivory, has walnut furniture upholstered in rose and gold. The smoke-room and entrance hall are in oak.

SPEED FIFTEEN KNOTS

The Reliance is capable of fifteen knots of speed. She is powered with B. & W. single action, four-cycle engines which drive her with extreme smoothness. The vessel has a capacity of 10,023 deadweight tons, and is of 6,715 tons gross register. Her principal dimensions are: Length 450 feet; breadth sixty feet; depth forty-two feet.

The Reliance is the first of six vessels built this year for the Furness (Pacific). The second one will be here early next month.

SUIT FOR $144,706 AGAINST THE P.G.E.

Vancouver, Oct. 24.—Claims $144,706 and damages, the Georgia Construction Company Limited, Seymour Street, Vancouver, through its solicitors, Farris, Farris, Stults and Sloan, has issued a writ in the Supreme Court here against the Pacific Great Eastern Railway Company.

The action arises out of a contract for work at Mile 13 and Mile 14 on the P.G.E. Railway. Most of the claim is based on the unforeseen extra haul of material for a fill.

In addition, damages are claimed for delay which allegedly ensued through a culvert, which was being built by another contractor, not being completed in time.

DELEGATES DISCUSS WAVE ALLOCATIONS

Radio Conference Suggests Bands For Broadcasters and Communication

Washington, Oct. 24.—The chief bone of contention among the nations participating in the International Radio Conference here was brought out into the open Friday when Lieut.-Commander T. A. M. Craven of the United States delegation presented to the sub-committee a tentative plan of wavelength allocation among the various radio services.

The United States delegates said the plan was a compromise one intended to reconcile as far as possible the desires of all countries and to form the basis of future discussion. It intended to provide for the most tasteful to some European countries in that it reserved for broadcasting purposes narrower wavelength band than they desired.

FREQUENCIES ALLOCATED

The plan would allocate to broadcasting the frequencies from 200 to 404 metres, and from 1550 to 1875 metres. The remainder of the waves between 200 and 300 metres would be allotted to shipboard and aerial communication.

The United States delegates said they would resist further encroachment upon communication channels since they believed the ship radio trade, which was also a part of the radio trade, was the most important.

Amateur wireless would develop greatly in the future.

It was, they pointed out, seventy-three per cent of the available channels were reserved for broadcasting and only twenty-seven per cent for communication.

Desire to extend the broadcasting band is understood to be shared by at least Germany and France.

ANY STATION

Another difference arose from the United States proposal to permit shipboard wireless operators to communicate with any station chosen by them instead of the one nearest to the ship.

Opposition was offered by Canada, Brazil and Uruguay, which, according to the explanation of some delegates, do not desire to deprive the radio station owners of radio trade which necessarily flows through their stations as the closest to the ship lanes.

Argentina, on the other hand, was reported as favoring amendment of the London convention to oblige ships to communicate with the port of origin only.

Judge.—"I notice that, in addition to misappropriating $500, you took a considerable quality of valuables in the form of rings, watches and other trifles." Professor. "Yea, sir; I remembered that money alone don't bring happiness."

As a result of their victory the Thistles now hold a four-point lead over second place team. The youngsters are hitting a fast pace and will take some stopping. With nearly half the schedule completed they are in a fine position to cop the championship.

Esquimalt advanced into second position along with the Wests and Victoria City. The dockers defeated the West 4-1 at Beacon Hill. By trouncing the Canadian Scottish 6-0, the Five C's put their first points in the win column, and left the Scottish sole occupant of the cellar position.

"Barney" Burns, the Thistles' hustling centre-forward, was responsible for the only goal of the game between Saanich and Victoria City. About the time of the opening period Phillips dropped a pass to Burns, who took command of the ball and drove past Hodgers, in goal for the City.

The City made several desperate attacks in an effort to even up, but Harper and Esser played well on the back line, and kept their goal clear. The half-time whistle found the City still on the offensive.

With the return of the second half the Thistles rushed the play into the City goal area and Joe Cross came close to scoring when he headed Phillips' centre over the bar. The Thistles continued to press, and were awarded a penalty when Glancy fouled Burns. The kick on goal by Burns hit the crossbar and the ball bounced back into play.

Following the penalty the City launched a determined offensive, but Hetherington in the Thistles' goal was safe. The City's real chance of scoring was passed up when Bissell missed a pass from the wing with the goal provider at his mercy.

For the remainder of the half the Thistles had the edge. Minnis with only the goal to beat handled the ball, and the Thistles lost another opportunity to boost their lead.

McMillan refereed. The teams were: Saanich Thistles — Hetherington, Peter, Harper, Miller, Joe Crowe, Jim Cross, Phillips, Minnis, Burns, Saville and Ewing.

Victoria City — Rogers, Glancy, George Preston, Bob Preston, Bowman, Kelman, Swanell, Southern, Bissell and Belford.

Esquimalt proved too good for the City as Hetherington, H. Watt, Tom Watt, back again at centre-forward, the champions hit their old stride. They showed a big improvement in their combination play and shooting over recent performances. Esquimalt scored two goals in each half, while the Wests scored their lone goal just after half-time.

The game got under way with both clubs one man short. Esquimalt soon added their eleventh man, but the Wests played the entire first half with only ten men.

The Wests went on the offensive at the start, but Esquimalt soon brought the ball into their opponent's goal area and Bob Whyte, in goal for the Wests, put on a show.

He was finally beaten by Wagland, scored on a pass from Tommy Watt. Esquimalt's second goal came when Wagland, taking a free kick outside the penalty line, passed the ball to Watt, who headed it into the net.

In the opening minutes of the second half the Wests displayed their best soccer of the year. After several rushes they were awarded a free-kick close in and Ted Dunn drove the ball dead on goal. It was relayed into the net by Robinson. The Wests continued on the attack, but were unable to add to their total.

Esquimalt's third goal came from the penalty line when a free kick hit the post and the ball was passed to Watt, who, in turn, centered to Watt and the centre-forward headed it into the net. Just before time John Watt scored Esquimalt's fourth and final goal.

Swan referred. The teams were: Esquimalt — Bridges, Joe Watt, De Coninck, Hosmer, Boyd, Smith, De John, Watt, Tom Watt, Bain and Wagland.

Victoria West — Bob Whyte, Dunn, Popham, Passmore, Peden, Godwin, Sherratt, Collins, Brown, Robinson and Mulcahy.

Five C's broke into the win column for the first time this season by defeating the Canadian Scottish 6-0 at Beacon Hill. Eden Quainton celebrated his return to the game after a week's absence by scoring four goals. The other two counters were accounted for by Eric Quainton and Eddie Wiggin. The Five C's were all in top form, and had the best of the play throughout the whole match.

After twenty minutes of play the Five C's took the lead when Eden Quainton dribbed through to beat Matthews with a low fast shot. Shortly after Eric Quainton, during a mix-up in the Scottish goal, breached the ball into the net. The Scottish broke away from the kick-off, but was checked up by Hood and White, the Five C's backs. The Five C's forwards were playing well, and their third goal came when Sutton passed in to Eden Quainton, who drove the leather past Matthews.

Resulting play Eden Quainton soon scored from close in with a daisy cutter. The Scottish took up the offensive, giving Tuckwell a few anxious moments. After much even play Eden

Brynjolfson Boys In Grim Fight For Lead

Clarence, Fifteen Years Old, Finally Wins Uplands Cup by Four Strokes, After His Brother, Harold, Seven-year-old Had Led for Three Rounds; Seventy-two Junior Players Star; Bob Morrison Has Best Gross Score With 310

Although sixty players started away last week in quest of the Uplands Cup the competition finally resolved itself into a "Battle of the Brynjolfsons." When the first thirty-six holes of medal play had been completed Harold Brynjolfson, seventeen-year-old star, was leading by one stroke over Evan Hanbury. At the end of the third round yesterday Harold was still leading but when the players had all checked in to Secretary John Caven at the end of the fourth round another member of the Brynjolfson family had forged to the front. Clarence Brynjolfson, fifteen years of age, brushed aside those who stood in his way and took first place in the annual handicap competition at the Uplands Golf Club.

Clarence Brynjolfson caused something of a sensation last summer when he reached the finals of the Uplands Club championship. He did not win the title, but he had everyone marveling at his wonderful style.

OnCAME LEAD When Clarence went into the third six holes yesterday he was two strokes behind his brother, and his handicap was fourteen, compared to his brother's ten. Bob Morrison, another star youngster, was well up in the running, but his handicap was 7. Then commenced one of the grimmest struggles seen here on a golf course in a long time.

In the morning round yesterday both the Brynjolfson boys and Morrison went out of the "seventies" during the competition. Clarence Brynjolfson's score was also one stroke better than the winner's total of last year, and the same goes for the runner-up. As the course is both longer and more difficult this year, it is proven that there has been distinct improvement in the play of the Uplands golfers this year.

The competition provided much interesting golf. The thirty-two low scores in the first half of the competition qualified for the second half. Ten of those who qualified did not turn out yesterday.

Eight Good Bouts Seen at Amateur Boxing Tournament

Storch Scores Knockout Over Eastick in Main Bout; Sivertz Fights Well

Eight good bouts were seen in the amateur boxing tournament staged by the Tillicum Athletic Club on Saturday night. The tournament drew a good house.

Charlie Storch, the long-legged heavyweight, scored a knockout over Joe Eastick in the main event. Storch, aided by a long reach, proved too good for his opponent. The first round was fairly even, but several hard lefts to the head and jaw sent Eastick down to the count in the second round.

In the best fight of the night, Sivertz scored a technical knock-out over Heller. Sivertz, with his coolness and well-timed blows, soon established himself as the favorite with the crowd.

Heller was unable to answer the bell in the third round, after taking considerable punishment.

The game got under way with both clubs one man short. Esquimalt soon added their eleventh man, but the Wests played the entire first half with only ten men.

The Wests went on the offensive at the start, but Esquimalt soon brought the ball into their opponent's goal area and Bob Whyte, in goal for the Wests, put on a show.

Woodchoppers In Spain Quit To Follow In Paolino's Path

Regil, Spain, Oct. 24.—A pugilistic boom inspired by fantastic stories of the wealth of Spain's champion heavyweight boxer, Paolino Uzcundun, has nearly crippled the lumber industry of this region.

Basque tree fellers of Paolino's native health have become so eager to emulate the prizefighter, noted for his practice of chopping wood to keep in training, that employers have difficulty keeping enough wood choppers at work.

A swarm of old-time pugilists from France and other countries are reaping first-rate woodchoppers into second-rate fighters.

Old acquaintances here have it that Paolino was originally a cow herder who took up tree felling as a spare time occupation. He became so proficient, so the story goes, that he won every open championship in tree felling for which he entered. It is also said that he was a wrestler of some reputation before he took up boxing.

Thomas and Terry Meeting in Finals Of Colwood Shield

Score Victories in Third Round and Semi-finals of Handicap Competition

Ismay, Present Holder, Defeated in Close Match By Terry, Who Beat Matson

Frank Thomas, veteran of many golfing battles, will meet Goldwyn Terry, a youngster who is just beginning to fame his way into the golfing world, in the final of the Colwood Handicap Shield competition at the Colwood Golf Club. They will meet on October 29 in a thirty-six-hole match to decide which will take home the silverware.

Terry scored two impressive victories yesterday. He knocked out Jack Matson, the city champion, by a score of 267 to 261. Matson had a score of 282. Morrison, however, had the honor of winning the prize for the best gross score. He made the four rounds in 310, which was eight strokes better than his winning score of last year. It is interesting to note that Matson's score was the best of the year.

At the conclusion of the competition S. J. Hall, president of the club, presented the prizes.

Suggestions for the advancement of the work of the Canadian Club in promoting unity among Canadians of various origins were discussed at the joint meeting of the executive of the Canadian Club and the Women's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel on Saturday evening. The gathering was held for the purpose of conferring with Dr. S. J. McLean, LL.B., assistant chief commissioner, Board of Railway Commissioners, who is on a Dominion tour in the interests of the Canadian Club movement.

Dr. McLean spoke of the need for closer understanding between the Canadians of French origin and those of British extraction, in which work the Canadian Club could play an important part. The clubs were also an excellent medium through which to spread the true Canadianism of others of foreign origin. With connection he told the gathering of the fine club-formed among the Ukrainians of Calgary, to whom prominent speakers would be sent to encourage them in the assimilation of the ideals of their adopted country.

The clubs were urged by Dr. McLean to continue their study of Canadian history and the methods of teaching Canadian history in the various provinces. He referred to the splendid work accomplished by Graham Spry, the organizing secretary, whose visits to the various clubs had resulted in a quickening of interest in the movement.

'Y MEMBERS REACH THE MILLION MARK

Phenomenal Jump in Membership Figures in Past Year

The Y.M.C.A. membership card has now reached the million mark. According to a conservative estimate based on the official figures of the annual Y.M.C.A. Year Book recently issued there are today over a million members in the Y.M.C.A. of Canada and the United States.

The total number of members reported by the association in April last was 989,534, as against 948,320 in 1926. This was a gain of 4.3 per cent over the previous year, and as four full months have elapsed since the official figures were reported it is reasonable to assume that the million mark has been substantially passed.

The official figures in the Year Book show that of the total number of members reported, 945,774 were in the United States and 43,966 in Canada. The largest gains were made in boys' memberships where 200,000 were reported as against 244,498 last year, or a net gain of 6.6 per cent. A gain of 5.5 per cent was made in the number of voting members, while the number of industrial members reported was 8.5 per cent larger than last year. A gain of 4.6 per cent was made by incorporated members, exclusive of the merchant marine.

The growth in membership in the Association in both Canada and the United States is looked upon as remarkable. This growth is even felt in Victoria; where the membership card is being added to daily.

Commencing Tuesday evening at 9 o'clock, following the young men's class, those interested in distance running will leave the Y.M.C.A. building for the season's first run. Under the supervision of Caesar Flinnimore, who is an enthusiastic devotee of this outdoor sport, the group will run two nights a week, on Tuesday evening and on Friday evening. They plan to hold several paper chases, and other special events during the Winter months.

Two events a week have been set aside for the tumbling and acrobatic class. This important phase of physical work has become most popular during the past few months and the acrobats gather on Monday and Thursday evening for instructions from Len Oliver. Len has had many years' experience as a professional acrobat, and the class is being taught in two groups, one group for beginners, and one for advanced pupils. The fellows attending these classes are learning the intricacies of the art of tumbling without running the danger of breaking their bones, as the Y.M.C.A. has some very fine equipment, including tumbling mats, safety tumbling bars, and a trapeze hanging from the roof. This apparatus will help both timid beginner and advanced pupil to master difficult feats without danger. Any one in any way interested in these groups can obtain any information from the Y.M.C.A. office.

St. Saviour's Men's Auxiliary—The first of the pleasant evenings under the auspices of St. Saviour's men's Auxiliary will be held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, October 25, at 8 p.m. Mrs. Cody Johnson and Mrs. T. Loftus have kindly undertaken to assist the men at their first evening. The proceeds will go towards the decorating of the extension of the hall.

PEACE RIVER

---British Columbia's Opportunity!

Highlights In the Glover Report

Here are some striking highlights from a report just made by E.K. Glover, a high executive of the B.C. Board of Trade, from an exhaustive study of Mr. Glover's report gives a complete picturization of the Peace River, its life, its possibilities. There is ample land now available for more than 40,000 additional homesteads, and surveying is being steadily continued. The Peace River is a young man's country with unlimited possibilities. Life in the Peace River district is pleasant; is not beset with the privations commonly attributed to frontier districts. Its adaptability for mixed farming is another section of the Dominion.

The Peace River development will double the population of Vancouver. The largest crop record is certain. The thing that impressed most was that there appeared to be no poor crops.

The Peace River district is capable of producing 500,000 bushels of grain annually. It can be made to support a population of 3,000,000 people with ease.

If settlement is to continue as it should, further railway facilities must be provided.

On sound economic lines connection with Vancouver.

If connected with the Peace River, the Peace River is a rich country, but it means nothing to this country, but the Peace River is developed into Vancouver.

Every father and every mother in British Columbia will be vitally interested in the report on the great Peace River country by F. R. Glover, executive of the B.C. Electric Railway Company, published in The Vancouver Sun, Thursday, October 20.

This report is the most accurate and complete picturization ever published on the Peace River and its opportunities. It tells all about the Peace River, its area, its climate, its ideal living conditions, and what it will grow.

The report also gives, from the viewpoint of a transportation expert, definite and constructive suggestions of what should be done to give the Peace River district an outlet to salt water in British Columbia.

The Vancouver Sun, for the people of this Province, has printed several hundred thousand extra copies of this report, which will be furnished free to anyone on request. You will enjoy reading this. Be sure to get a copy for yourself and your friends.

The BLUE CAR MYSTERY

By NATALIE SUMNER LINCOLN

The letter dropped to Harriet's lap and she rested her head against the chair back. A few scalding tears forced their way under her closed lids. She knew well the circumstances and her father's gallant effort to pack his creditors every penny which had gone in the business crash following the cancellation of Government contracts at the close of the World War. She had arrived in Washington with high hope. Her Uncle James, who had uttered no words of warning for her, in his terms lack of business capacity and declined to come to his financial assistance to any great extent, had written and invited her to spend a month with him. It was the first time in over two years that such an invitation had been extended to any member of her immediate family.

Harriet's welcome had been extremely cordial; never had she remembered her uncle more affectionately in manner or more apparently glad to see her. She had put on her prettiest gown for him at dinner and the meal had passed in merry jest and laughter; then had come the interview later in the evening—Harriet caught her breath and one hand crept up to her heart.

The letter, torn into several small slivers, decorated the carpet basket a few minutes later, and Harriet, after bathing her hot eyelids in cold water, stopped at her dressing table. It took her a careful ten minutes to remedy the ravages of tears with rouge pot and lip stick; it was not often that she resorted to cosmetics, for nature had endowed her with a brilliant color and skin requiring but little purity. Finally satisfied with the results, as shown by her mirror, Harriet put on her hat and coat. She found the hall deserted and, pausing only for one timid glance at the closed door of her uncle's bedroom, she ran down the square staircase. The policeman was still standing by the front door. He turned and when he happened with an appreciative eye; in fact, it would have been a Stoic indeed, who would not have admired the pretty picture Harriet made in her becoming fur toque which matched her coat, the gift of a devoted school friend.

"I've just seen Mr. Terry, officer," she said, with a courteous nod as he turned his cap.

"Sure he's beyond in the library, mink—" Then with an Irishman's quick wit guessing the cause of her hesitation. "An' would ye be wantin' me to call him for ye?"

"If you would be so kind—" and Harriet's charming smile was sufficient reward. An instant later the policeman burst in and stuck his head inside the drawn portieres before the library door. Harriet's unloved hand slipped inside the unlocked letter box attached to the front door. The next instant a small key, reposing at the bottom of the box, was safely thrust under the elastic band of the inner sleeve of her coat.

"No mail is delivered on New Year's day," announced Paul Barlow's voice just behind her. Harriet's hands closed spasmodically. Was the little man omnipresent? She had neither seen nor heard his approach.

"How you startled me!" she exclaimed, "I thought— in some confusion, that is, I met his penetration, 'you were in my uncle's bedroom.'

"Yes, so I was—for a time." His glance held hers for a second, then shifted to Terry as the latter joined them. "Take Miss Whitney out, Mr. Terry; the fresh air will do her good. There is nothing either of you can do here just now, observing Terry's hesitancy and impatience."

Before following Harriet outside the front door, held open by the attentive policeman, Terry took out his visiting card and wrote a few penciled lines on it.

"Here is my address and telephone

THE RULES

1. The idea of letter golf is to change one word to another and do it in par, a given number of strokes. Thus to change COW TO HEN, in three strokes, we have, HEN, HEN.

2. You can change only one letter at a time.

3. You must have a complete word, of common usage, for each jump.

Slang words and abbreviations don't count.

4. The order of letters cannot be changed.

One solution is printed on page 60.

there," he said. "I'll wait for you at the car. Don't hurry."

"Won't you come in and see John?" "Not now," he smiled down at her as he stood barefooted. "Patient—not one visitor at a time. Here is the charge nurse," and Terry beat a rapid retreat before she could stop him.

The nurse was just going off duty, but she paused at Harriet's low-voiced question.

"Captain Whitney, did you say?" she asked, and as Harriet explained her errand, "of course you can see your brother." Then as Harriet asked a further question, her expression changed slightly. "He is better. Miss Whitney, this day was the first he passed since last she had seen him, and except that he had grown thinner and the lines of pain were intensified, he looked about the same.

"John!" Though she barely whispered his name, he awoke with a start and gazed at her in bewilderment.

had written once that it was the "kind of a room where you have to go outside to turn around."

Whitney lay with his eyes closed and from his regular breathing Harriet judged him to be in a better condition than the day before, keeping him in bed as he is running a slight temperature," she opened the door of the room as she spoke and Harriet slipped inside the small bedroom which was barely large enough to accommodate the single hospital bed, tall chiffonier, and chair; her brother was in the arms and they were exchanging incoherent endearments. "Harriet you are prettier than ever!" "I'm not, I'm just as plain as ever," he said. "I'm not as good as Uncle James," he said. "True," Whitney sank back in bed. He was breathing rather heavily. "Say, sister, did you know he was thinking of getting married?"

"Yes," Harriet glanced outside the one small window the room boasted, then back at her brother. "Did Uncle

"He wasn't so old," retorted Harriet, "not more than sixty; you remember he was retired for disability incident to his service in the war for us."

"True," Whitney sank back in bed. He was breathing rather heavily. "Say, sister, did you know he was thinking of getting married?"

"Yes," Harriet glanced outside the one small window the room boasted, then back at her brother. "Did Uncle Jim tell you?"

Whitney shook his head. No, Mrs. Ruggles did.

"What do you know her?" in accents of deep surprise. "That woman—"

"She, Mrs. Ruggles, was a lot of times bringing me cake and candy that Uncle James sent out." Whitney sneezed violently and spent some seconds searching for a handkerchief which Harriet finally located under his pillow.

TINY TOTS MAY HAVE DAILY RIDE

Transfer of Fifty Infants
From Cloverdale to Lake
Hill Planned

Scheme Preferred to Artificial Lights in Cloverdale
Basement

Only transportation to Lake Hill of about fifty of the smallest children now attending Cloverdale School, at least for the Winter months, is being considered by the Saanich School Board as alternative to spending $150 on installation of indirect lighting in the two basement rooms at Cloverdale.

At a recent meeting of the School Board, Dr. Berman, schools medical officer, denounced the lighting of two rooms in the basement of Cloverdale School, and recommended that indirect artificial illumination be installed. The rooms were this Summer painted white at a cost of about $200, after being used as classrooms for some years.

News of the proposed transportation of the tiny tots quickly spread through Cloverdale district, and strong opposition to such a plan is being voiced. It is probable that an important delegation will wait on the board on Wednesday evening, to object to any change which would require children to brave inclement weather while waiting for buses, and demand improvement of Cloverdale School by structural changes.

It is understood that parents objecting to the change have sent urgent messages to Trustee Robert McInnis, now Vancouver's representative, to make a point of attending the next session of the board and advocate adoption of Dr. Berman's proposed artificial lighting scheme pending extension of Cloverdale School.

On Wednesday evening the board will also deal with the apparent discrepancy between accounts for $1,000 in the clean-up campaign of last Summer, and the amount of material required by general practice. The board purchased material and contracted the labor, and now finds the accounts for material in some cases double expectation.

KIWANIANS SATISFY CROW OBJECTORS

Entertainment Manager Shows Hand Regarding Trained Performers

All objections to the performance to be presented by forty black crows under the auspices of the Kiwanis Club, November 21, 22 and 23, were swept aside today when Carl Stocker, who is directing the entertainment, gave full information of the forthcoming show to meet the charges of cruelty which have been leveled at the service club.

With opponents of animal and bird acts in arms, Stocker retorted that in the role of comedians and singers, Mr. Stocker announced that the forty black crows are none other than the Kiwanis minstrels making their third annual appearance. The well-organized band of blackface artists have prepared another show which is claimed to be better than the previous performances the club has staged. It is a musical melange in three acts, starting in Jamaica, taking the audience to France in the battle area of 1917 and ending in Paris.

Tom Kelway, who gained so much applause in his part of the prime minstrel show in previous show, and who has sung his way into the hearts of the people of Victoria, has the part of a colored sergeant-major. There is a chorus of forest voices in the circle with the incomparable Cecil Heston at the helm of the orchestra. Jim Connors, William James, Ernest Burrows, William Smedley and Tom Kelway are the soloists. Jack Trace, Dave MacFarlane, Tom Kelway and Carl Stocker are the end men.
